

Institute of Medicine

Bob Bailey, M.A.

- States must play a key role in establishing regional systems to ensure consistency and sustainability
- States should:
  - Provide legal authority for regions to exist
  - Facilitate, coordinate and designate regions
  - Ensure quality assurance/improvement programs
- Sufficient funding must be available to allow states and regions to ensure sustainability