Governance and Accountability

Edward M. Racht, M.D.

Who's in charge?

- Challenges
 - Business drives the practice
 - I'm in charge of my World
 - The players have different motivation and valid fears
 - Collaboration only works if it's perceived to have value
 - Accountability requires transparency. Transparency is threatening.
 - The reimbursement model does not promote "systemness"
 - Current regulatory structure not ideal
- Opportunities
 - Efficiencies of collaboration / innovative approaches (outside the box models)
 - Peer review concepts applied on a larger scale
 - Transparency drives change
 - Changes in reimbursement strategies rapidly drive change
 - Success of Unified Command
 - Technology as a primary provider or as an assistant
 - Our target is a definable group of time sensitive illness and injury
 - What about funding just these patient encounters differently?
